

ARTIST NEWS

Edgar Schilter

tjg is delighted to announce that Edgar Schilter has been selected as a finalist in the Adelaide Perry Prize for Drawing, and acquisitive art award and one of the most significant in the country.

In its eleventh year, PLC Sydney's Adelaide Perry Prize for Drawing received a record amount of entries. Judge for 2016, Independent curator and writer Ms Julie Ewington selected in January the short-list of this year's finalists from over 600 entries.

Rebecca Pierce & Sally West

Both Rebecca Pierce and Sally West have been selected for the upcoming exhibition 'Artists of Mosman: 2088'. The show opens on Saturday 11 April and runs to Sunday 3 May.

Mosman has long been a source of inspiration for artists since the late 19th century's Impressionist Artists Camps at Balmoral and Sirius Cove. Following in this rich tradition, the Artists of Mosman exhibition brings together the best of contemporary art practices by local resident artists in Mosman and the Friends of the Mosman Art Gallery. This eagerly anticipated exhibition is a highlight of the community's cultural calendar.

NEW WORKS

Karen Farmer

Karen Farmer has just delivered a slew of new works into the gallery. All based on her current Maggie series these new pieces follow on from a small selection that was recently hung in the gallery, and received a wonderful response!

Katherine Wood

After waiting with baited breath for a new body of work tjg is happy to say that we have just taken delivery of 4 beautiful new Katherine Wood pieces. Following on from previous series of landscape works taken moody and emotive pieces all capture a different part of skies she has worked with in the past, but each with a life of it's own.
